

Eric Savage, Co-founder & CEO, Unitus Capital

Eric comes with 25+ years of experience in investment banking space. In 2007, he moved to India to set up Unitus Capital (UC) and led in raising almost US$2 billion for various impact businesses. His work encompasses diverse fields such as financial inclusion, affordable healthcare, renewable energy, affordable education, women empowerment, and so on. As a CEO, he has led UC to the #1 position in investment banking for the past 4 years in a survey conducted by Venture Intelligence. Prior to UC, Eric ran Citigroup's Asian investment banking franchise and executed multiple landmark equity, debt and M&A transactions worth billions of dollars. Eric is a graduate (cum laude) of Duke University and Harvard's Kennedy School, where he received the Lucius N. Littauer Fellow Award, the program's top honour. He also serves on the boards of a number of leading companies, funds, and educational institutions. In 2014, Eric was named Indian Expat Entrepreneur of the Year by Expat Entrepreneurs Circle, and in 2016, was awarded the Indira Gandhi Sadbhawana Award for his contributions to the impact investing sector. He is a highly sought after speaker in the impact investing world. Eric is a Fellow of the inaugural class of the Aspen Institute's Finance Leaders Fellowship Program.
